Graham Group Ltd.

In 1926, P.W. Graham and his sons launched a building contracting business in Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan. From the beginning, the company and its people were driven by a belief in hard work and a sense of pride in every detail. Together, they resolved to do the best job possible.

After nearly sixty years of family ownership, employees joined forces with the Graham family to form Graham Construction and Engineering (1985) Ltd. This employee-owned venture evolved into what's now the Graham Group Ltd. (Graham), an organization founded on commitment, integrity and reliability.

With over 80 years of experience, Graham is one of the industry's leading contractors. The now Calgary based company serves a growing list of clients from its numerous offices across North America – where Graham has over 900 employees.

Graham provides general contracting, design build, construction management and public-private partnerships (P3) services to commercial, industrial, infrastructure, earthworks and masonry markets in Canada and the U.S. The company has the resources and capacity to successfully deliver projects of every scope, scale and complexity.

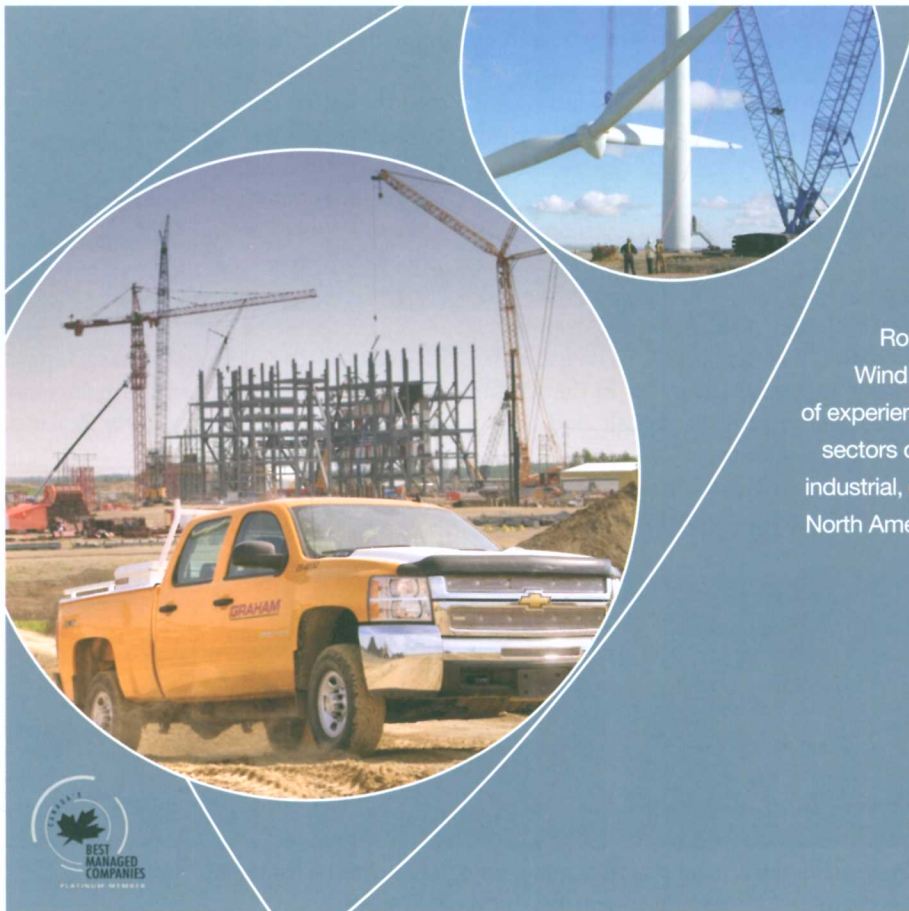

As a LEED® certified builder, Graham has successfully delivered many projects with stringent LEED® requirements.

Credit Union iplex, Swift Current, Saskatchewan

This experience includes the recent construction of the LEED® Gold certified Whistler High Performance Athletic Centre, built for the upcoming 2010 Olympics.

Graham has deep roots and legacy projects across North America. Their presence in Saskatchewan, where it all started, continues to thrive with projects such as the Centennial Collegiate in Saskatoon, Dakota Dunes Casino, Credit Union iplex in Swift Current, University of Saskatchewan – Academic Health Sciences D Wing Project, Western College of Veterinary Medicine – VTH Addition, River Landing Improvements, and the Research and Innovation Centre at the University of Regina. ■
